Subject: Re: CAG Meeting and Tour on Thursday 3/11

Hi All.

Just wanted to raise a couple of issues that came up at our other Diamond Alkali site public meeting on Wednesday.

For those people that do attend the CAG meetings regularly but aren't actual CAG members we don't have contact info for them and therefore, except for the broad listservs that go out our CAG group info doesn't go to them. Should we do an attendance sheet for them in case we might want to share info with those who are regular attendees, even if they aren't members?

Should we post handouts that get distributed at CAG meetings on the internet for any members or non-members who might've missed a meeting? Or is there some other way we'd like to share that info?

As the 2010 schedule is constantly evolving is that something we should also post? It came up that people who are not members would like to be able to gauge what the topics are scheduled to be for upcoming meetings so they can be sure to come or to be ready to prepare materials if they might be a possible presenter.

Think that's it. Carol, did you hear any other thoughts regarding the CAG that I missed?

Thanks and talk to you this afternoon,
Elizabeth
